

EAT AND DRINK

Harvey: What to eat and drink in NYC to fund storm relief efforts

By Nicole Levy

nicole.levy@amny.com

Updated September 7, 2017 2:53 PM

A glass of Hope After the Storm

Head to one of Merchant Hospitality's restaurants or bars, like Industry Kitchen (70 South St.) or Watermark Bar (Pier 15, 78 South St.), on Thursday, Sept. 7 for a $15 limited-release cocktail made with Texan vodka. All proceeds from sales of Hope After the Storm -- a mix of Amaro Averna, lemon juice, orgeat, yellow chartreuse, Angosatura bitters, simple syrup, and Tito's Handmade Vodka -- will go to the Red Cross' work in the areas affected by Harvey.