MAY 3, 2018 BY LINDSAY

Temperatures are rising. The sun is finally coming out to say hello. And moms are flocking to NYC to celebrate Mother's Day with their beloved offspring. We love patio dining here in New York—most likely because of the prime people watching, but don't tell mama that! Get dolled up in your favorite sundresses and book your reservations for an alfresco brunch today.

Here are our top picks for notable outdoor brunches throughout NYC this year.

Industry Kitchen

When it comes to outdoor dining in Manhattan, no one does it quite like Industry Kitchen. Tucked underneath the FDR, this chic patio overlooks the East River and Brooklyn. Get some color, drink delicious cocktails, and maybe even have your way with their famous gold pizza! Industry Kitchen serves brunch on Saturdays and Sundays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. 70 South St, New York
